

The goldbug papers are endeavoring to make capital out of the fact that the Democrats in several States have fused with the Populists, and are trying to convince the voters of the Silver States that a vote for Weaver is a vote for Cleveland. They fail, however, to mention that the Republicans in several Southern States have withdrawn their electors and endorsed the Populist electors. This fusion simply means that there are members of the old parties who recognize the sterling worth of the People's movement, and wish to march in line with it.

We have received a note from a voter asking if a cross should be put opposite the name of each Presidential elector, or whether one cross includes the three electors for any one Presidential candidate. The law very plainly says that the voter must mark a cross opposite the name of each man voted for. We do not vote directly for President, but for the electors, therefore there is no blank opposite names of candidates for President and Vice-President.

Mr. Summerfield says that no respectable family takes the APPEAL. We will give him $100 if it will show a single family in this city taking the APPEAL that is not respectable.

Mr. Summerfield's fondness for pullets has always been a source of trouble to him.

MORE OF DOANE'S TRICKS.

How He Manipulated the County Vault Contract.

Last summer the county built a new vault in the county building for the better preservation of the records.

They drew up specifications for supplies and announced that the contract would be let to the lowest bidder.

Several parties in this city figured on the contract and one Reno firm. The bid of the Reno firm—bidding under the specifications—was $4,000.

Cross and Wilcox bid $3,000 and a Mr. Johnson, who was a stranger in this city and not even a voter or a citizen in the county, bid in the neighborhood of $1,300 and got the contract.

The figures which Mr. Johnson put it at made the local contractors scratch their heads and they began to watch for the usual "colored gentleman on the fence."

When the local contractors applied to Mr. Hy Doane for information they were told that the contract required 135 barrels of A1 Portland cement. Some samples of Carson brick were submitted for his inspection and they seemed like a red rag to a bull to him.

"Oh No! No! No! We can't have any Carson made brick. They are too soft, too soft. Can't have 'em gentleman, can't have 'em. We want San Francisco brick."

So the bidders were obliged to figure on brick made in California and costing heavy freight over the mountains.

Well, to make a long story short, after Johnson finished his contract, and got his money, it was discovered that he had used less than 60 barrels of Portland cement—not No. 1, but No. 2 quality—and also used Carson brick and not San Francisco as expressly stipulated by Doane.

Now it is easy to see that when Johnson put in his bid for $1,300 he had the tip from Doane, who by giving the other bidders false estimates had thrown them off the track and pitched the business into the hands of Johnson. That he would do all this for a comparative stranger without he had an interest in it, is something more than a credulous public should be called upon to believe.

That Blackmailing Case.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE APPEAL:—I have just heard that Sardis Summerfield charged you on the platform with an attempt to blackmail me out of money at the time my boy was tried and acquitted. The statement is absolutely false, and I take this method of publicly contradicting the man's false statement.

R. CROW.

ALL SORTS.

But for the APPEAL Ormsby could practically be regarded as a Boodlers Paradise.

Elect a new set of county officers and give the taxpayers a chance to get at the county books.

The county ring goes to pieces like the breaking up of a hard winter, but the thaw has set in all the same.

All the taxpayers of the county want now is a fair election, and above all a fair count, with the accent on the fair count.

The editor of the APPEAL has been enjoying the antipathy of petty larceny thieves in Ormsby for the last twelve years.

If Mr. Summerfield will put in his bid to the Silver executive committee of Ormsby by services rendered to the county ticket in the campaign. We can see no valid reason for not allowing the claim.

The Colorado Silver League has had printed for distribution thousands of copies of Stewart's speech delivered in Virginia City. How many copies of Mr. Woodburn's or Mr. Bartine's speech was ever printed for distribution in the silver States?

The old ring have fallen back on an old trick of theirs. They are trying to get up a row among the silver candidates by making one think that some other one is arranging to trade him off.

Keep shoulder to shoulder, believe none of these lies and victory is certain. There will not be a break in the ranks on election day.

Announcement.

After the regular speakers this evening have finished their talk, the editor of the APPEAL will devote about 10 minutes to the case of Mr. Summerfield.

A CHICKEN THIEF IN OFFICE.

One of the Peculiar Transactions of Immaculate District Attorney.

Some years ago when Mr. Summerfield made himself so unpopular with the Empire people teaching school there, he lived in this city on King street and occupied a house by Mrs. Hofer. The lady kept a number of fancy fowls, and from time to time she missed them. It took her some time to find out where they went to.

It appears that they were trapped and stolen by Mr. Summerfield, our present District Attorney.

His method is described by the neighbors as follows:

Taking an old cracker box he rigged it up with what is known as a drop trap, so arranged that a slight pull would release the prop and let the trap drop and capture the fowl.

The neighbors set a watch on Mr. Summerfield, and several eye witnesses of the scene saw him repeatedly set the trap, strew corn or wheat under it, and then retiring a little distance behind the corner of the house he would cock his little head around like a monkey as he watched expectantly for his prey. When the chicken would get under the trap he quickly jerked the long string and a look of exultation spread over his face as he trapped his bird; and the dropping of the jaw when the fowl weighed on or overturned the box, was a source of immense amusement to the people watching him.

After catching the chicken he would quickly cut off its head and slip into the house with it, chuckling to himself on the way. He finally saw that he was being watched and discontinued his thieving practices, at least as far as those particular chickens were concerned.

Mr. Chas. Bains and Mrs. Fred Turner, who now reside in this city, were among the many eye witnesses of the transaction, as well as other neighbors of Mrs. Hofer, the names of whom the APPEAL editor has forgotten.

The Candelaria Idea.

CANDELARIA, Nov. 2, 1892.

ED. APPEAL—

In the Senate of the United States when Bill Stewart rises and remarks "Mr. President," John Sherman wakes up, shakes his long ears and with the rest of the gold bug gang, begins to get uneasy in anticipation of a fight on the silver question.

When the "Old Man" gets warned up they go out in the cloak room where they can hear and not be seen. Give him another chance at them in the next session and he will drive them clear out of the capitol.

POCONIP.

The Reason Why.

Mr. Summerfield abuses the writer for taking 300 acres of waste sagebrush, putting it under cultivation and making several thousand dollars worth of taxable property, where none existed before.

"Why did he move out there," asked the District Attorney in tragic tones.

It was probably to enable him to raise chickens without having them stolen.

After the experience of Mrs. Hofer with our grasping District Attorney it seemed advisable to move ones fowls to a place of safety.

An Opportunity Offered.

Mr. Summerfield tells an audience in one breath that the editor of this journal is an amphibian monster about sixteen feet long, devouring helpless women and children along the highway, and in the next breath announces that he has become a physical wreck. If any member of the county ring thinks that the writer is a physical wreck he can test the proposition at his earliest convenience. Sardis can be thrown in along with the other fellow, to assist him in making the test.

Lost his Dollar.

Mr. Doane when charged with sliding off to California to get some illegal ballots printed actually denied being there. One of his friends relying on his word bet a dollar that Hy was not there and had to pay the money over. He votes for Aube.

"If It Hadn't Been."

Trenmor Coffin when in Reno a few evenings since, was asked if Ormsby would go Republican. "Yes," he said. "It would have been all right if it hadn't been for that d-d APPEAL making a stink about county officers, just at the time it did."

THE JONES INTERVIEW.

Representing the Misrepresentation to Break Its Force.

Eugene Bloodgood Beebe interviewed a number of prominent men on the silver question in New York City, among them Senator J. P. Jones of Nevada. The result of that interview was printed in the Denver News and copied in several Nevada papers. The Tribune pronounced the interview a campaign lie, and said:

"With John P. Jones on the water en route to Europe, and no chance to refute the statements, the Weaver papers are printing an alleged interview had with him in which he is quoted as having declared for Weaver and Field, and as asserting that Weaver will carry eight or ten States."

Now the following has been sent out:

CARSON, Nev., November 5.

Hon. J. P. Jones, Hoffman House, New York: Dispatches report you as having declared for Weaver and against Harrison. Is it true?

R. K. COLCORD.

Answer November 5th:

Mr. R. K. Colcord:—Dispatches not correct. While I regret exceedingly to differ with many old friends, I am compelled by candor and conviction to say that under the present conditions I believe the interests of Nevada will be best subserved by the success of the Harrison electors.

J. P. JONES.

The interview with Senator Jones was published in the APPEAL of the 4th inst. It did not state that Senator Jones said he would support Weaver. It represented him as saying that Weaver in his opinion would carry eight states and gave the Senator's opinion as to the beneficial effect it would have on the free coinage issues. Mr. Beebe has a national reputation, as well as Senator Jones and no doubt he reported the Senator correctly. He is also an old friend of the Senator's.

If the Governor had asked Senator Jones whether he was correctly reported by Mr. Beebe, he would doubtless have answered in the affirmative. The Associated Press did not report Senator Jones "as having declared for Weaver," as stated by the Governor and there has not been a dispatch published in a Nevada paper stating that he had.

The County Records.

Everybody is asking: "Why is the county ring making such desperate efforts to elect the Republican ticket? There must be something behind all this."

The reason is plain to anyone who reflects. If the old county officers go out and a new set come in, the county books, which have not been over hauled for years, will be thoroughly inspected. If this is ever done there will be a shaking up of dry bones as the county never knew before.

This is why so desperate a fight is being made for Summerfield, the tool of the ring. He can be depended on to squelch any suits brought by taxpayers to recover money taken from them by the Court House robbers. With a new set of county officers the books could be inspected, and a new District Attorney would be there to do his sworn duty, not acting as the retained attorney of the ring, but the elected agent of the taxpayers.

Comparing the Tickets.

When Mr. Summerfield rose to make a defense of the county ring on Saturday night, he saw the utter folly of attempting it, and so occupied his time with the editor of the APPEAL. The Republicans who went to the Opera House to hear something said for the county ticket went away with long faces, and some said openly:

"If the man can't say a word for the Republican ticket and can't say a word against the Silver ticket, it looks as if the Silver ticket was the best ticket, and I guess we'd better vote it Tuesday."

And that's just what nine-tenths of the audience will do tomorrow.

A Choice for $600.

The automatic liar of the Ormsby ring stated that he knows of a Senator who was offered $600 for his vote by the editor of the APPEAL. But he refrains from naming the man. The way to have dealt with such a charge was to have produced an affidavit from the Senator to whom the offer was made. If he will prove his charge the APPEAL will give him $600, which is more than he makes by closing his eyes to the lottery games running in Chinatown.
